

kpoa claims control of commerce & first amendment

Schulte & His Sheep; The Saga Continues

Noun 1. delusions of grandeur - a delusion (common in paranoia) that you are much greater and more powerful and influential than you really are delusion, psychotic belief - (psychology) an erroneous belief that is held in the face of evidence to the contrary megalomania - a psychological state characterized by delusions of grandeur

KPOA has a long history of delusions about their authority. Member funds have been spent repeatedly on a series of misadventures, where The HOA pretends to be government and hires lawyers in serial attempts to control beyond their very limited authority performing under a private contract. The latest bizarre misadventure arises from the Royal Court of His Majesty Dick Schulte re-declaring KPOA control over the publication of this newsletter, the content of its ads, and the right to engage in commerce.

The front page bluster from Schulte in the May Kala Pointer "President's Message" column demonstrates his (and apparently that of the board collectively) gross ignorance of the limits of their control. Sadly, they have engaged their legal firm now, at member expense, to save us all from a horrible fate by the offering of electronic gate openers to residents for our "high security limited access gate" that is left open by management for weeks at a time, and through which scores of vehicles pass every day by just tailgating others. If not such a doomed and hair-brained concept, this might be humorous. But paying lawyers to advance it at owner expense is just yet another stupid misuse of our ever rising assessments.

It's not surprising to see this because there is a long and sordid history of successive KPOA boards wasting precious member money chasing dreams of expanded control of things entirely beyond their scope of authority. Some examples:

- Blocking member use of satellite dishes triggering Federal intervention.
- Usurping state authority on shoreline management only to be overridden.

The appearance of an article, opinion letter, or advertisement in this publication does not necessarily constitute endorsement by or of this publication. KPNV, now in it's 10th year, is published by community volunteers as a voice for observations and opinions excluded from KPOA's "official" newsletter through active association censorship limiting content to "the party line".

KPNV Contributors & volunteers may elect to have their work acknowledged by name, or they may not. Some articles or opinion pieces may carry a byline, and others may not. Attacks on dissent and dissenters by KPOA, including attacks on KPNV advertisers, through both official and unofficial voices, cause many to desire anonymity. KPNV understands and respects such requests, reserving the right to disclose or not disclose the names of members contributing.

Please feel free to participate in any way, from submitting articles and/or opinions to volunteering in some capacity. Thanks and we look forward to your input. Email us at contact@ttnnewsletter.com.

- Attempting to preempt state and federal firearms possession laws.
- Interfering with newsletter advertiser's free choice by threat and intimidation.
- Pre-empting State Statutes on open meetings; executive sessions.
- Illegally administratively blocking member records access.
- Establishing a Kala Point contract police force, despite clearly expressed member opposition.

So here we go again. Despite his oft-stated public position of ignoring the dissenting voice of this publication, Schulte and his Royal Cortege remain clearly obsessed with silencing any voices questioning how this association is operated and its growing negative reputation both inside and outside the gates, the saga continues. Schulte, apparently backed by other covering board members, has now set off on another member-funded Jihad to control what he cannot, pretending to have the right to censor the content of this publication, distributed via US Mail to KP owners, and to decide what may be advertised and sold in commerce. Bizarre? Yes... but surprising? Unfortunately not; just the latest chapter in a long line of malfeasance and overreach.

KPOA July 2007 Survey:

(Survey by KPOA, not KPNV)

I am in favor of hiring an off duty sheriff deputy on an hourly cost basis to enforce the speed limit:

Disagree Somewhat: 41

Disagree Strongly: 157

4:1 against!

The speed recorder study implemented by the Board at that time indicated that 86% of the vehicle traffic was driving within 5mph of the limit. If you would like a copy of the full survey results, please email us at contact@ttppnewsletter.com, since KPOA does not keep any issues older than 2010 on the KPOA website.

driver safety class

Can Save you $ on Car Insurance

AARP Driver Safety classes are designed to help drivers understand the effects of aging on driving skills, discuss compensating behaviors for changing abilities and the most common types of crashes caused by older drivers.

Talks on assessment of driving skills and identifying signs of unsafe driving help drivers look at their own driving issues and options. Changing patterns on the highway, such as cell phone use and road rage, are also covered. The class also reviews recent changes in traffic laws and the latest in safety equipment in vehicles. There will be an emphasis on collision avoidance and tips will be presented on how to reduce the chance of injuries in the event of a mishap.

Car insurance companies in the State of Washington are required to give an "appropriate" discount on car insurance to drivers 55 years and older upon completion of a certified Traffic Safety Course.

The eight-hour AARP course is divided into two four hour class sessions. The cost is $12 for AARP members and $14 for non-members of AARP. Classes are scheduled at the Port Ludlow Beach Club from 10:00am–2:30pm on May 21 and May 23rd- (360-437-2250), and Tri-Area Community Center on May 17-18 (360-732-4822).

Great Greek Philosopher

WORDS OF WISDOM

"Those who are too smart to engage in politics are punished by being governed by those who are dumber."

--Plato

truth, trust and transparency

Several weeks ago, I had coffee with a resident of Kala Point. We had met only recently, and I wanted to hear what he thought of the politics here. He said that he read both newsletters but didn't know which one to believe. I would imagine that he's not the only person wondering whom, or what, to believe. Usually when I write an article for this newsletter, I am addressing something which has been said by the KPOA president or a specific action taken by the board. As I have no inside information regarding governance by the board, I read the same Kala Pointer and board minutes available to you. Saying that, you may not agree with my opinions or conclusions, but I don't think that you could reasonably question the truthfulness of what I write. You could question my motives, but I think that most of you know my position on Kala Point governance by now.

I oppose petty rules imposed by petty people who are driven by power and ego. I'm perfectly capable of making personal decisions regarding how I live, and I believe most of you are as well. Most of us want to do the "right thing" and don't need a board of nine people with questionable agendas telling us to how to behave. Anyone who carefully reads the Kala Pointer can see it's a "House Organ" with almost no value. It preaches the "Company Line" and has no depth. It's a propaganda vehicle which says very little, but it appears that many of you don't recognize that.

In my mind, it's much more appropriate to question the motives and truthfulness of the KPOA board and its president. As an example, in the April board meeting, the board, I was told, voted unanimously to immediately stop recording board meetings. When I say immediately, I mean that the April meeting was not recorded! The reason given was that "The state does not require it."

Take a minute to think about that as a reason! I would assume that board meetings have been recorded almost since the formation of KPOA. Why did the board do this so quickly? How about giving members a chance to make their opinions known? To have a verbatim recording of the board's proceedings is invaluable even if it is rarely needed. Sometimes a single word can be extremely important in a situation where written minutes are inadequate. Is the board trying to hide something or are they just demonstrating "Who's in charge?" Does this meet the definition of "Transparency." In a previous article I talked about the board taking away our right to amend the CC&R's without its approval; to many of us that's unconscionable! We are quickly losing the right to govern ourselves, and if we remain as passive as we have been, we will have almost no rights at all.

Another issue that should be discussed with the members is the issue of the sheriff. The board appears to be going ahead with meetings with the sheriff to monitor speeding in Kala Point. Do you want the sheriff in your backyard? Has anyone asked you how you feel about this? Do you want to pay for this? This is another example of the "bullying" nature of the board and its president.

Board members are supposed to be representing us, but that appears to be a foreign concept to them. Why hasn't the board reached out to the membership to get our views on the issues I've mentioned? "What are they afraid of? You all know the cliché "We get the kind of government we deserve" Is this the kind of governance you deserve?

Hank Krist

Letters from our members

Open Letter on Speeding

If there was a solution to a speeding problem it would be used by the State, County, and City Governments. Since there is not a solution, they use all types of deterrents to try to get people to drive the posted speed limits.

In Kala Point the posted speed limit is 25 miles per hour and a majority of the people drive between 20 and 30 miles per hour. Just guessing, if you apply Statistical Process Control analysis to the numbers you will find that 75% to 80% fall within the bracket of 20 to 30 mph. Also applying the 80/20 rule, 80% of the drivers speed is between 20 to 30 mph and 20% is above or below this range. If 5% is below this range then you are trying to control 15% of the drivers. With removal of the Board of Directors, Committee Members, and employees then the percentage drops even more because these members do not speed but state that other people speed. We are getting close to the 10% of the drivers driving above 30 mph. Also, emergency runs should not be considered in the analysis.

Deterrents: What type of deterrents does Kala Point use to try to control speed?

- Speed bumps at the gate and Kala Point Drive; only effective at the speed bumps and lose their effectiveness once you cross the bump

- Speed limit signs; static in terms that after reading the sign a few times it is not very effective
- Stop signs; not very effective at low speeds and little traffic as noted at the bottom of the hill, Kala Point Drive and Prospect. More effective at Prospect and Highway 19.
- News Letter serves as a reminder because you are not reading while driving

If we are going to use more deterrents, then the first consideration is not to tread on one's individualism and privacy. You do not want speeders acting in defiance because they were singled out or received a speeding ticket. Therefore we have to be very careful of what we do; damage to county equipment flashing your speed limit and damage to the counters.

The first thing that should be done is process the speed records that we have and find out when, where, why, how and if anything can be accomplished without big expense. Analyze the cost verse effect.

The second item is to investigate a second entrance/exit someplace in the water tower/well area. This would greatly reduce the amount of traffic on lower Kala Point Drive. Establish the criteria for a second entrance/exit, fencing, lighting, and electric gate. Probably is a capital improvement with assessment to cover cost. Remember the Peter Principal, when a disaster strikes, it will probably be at the gate area. I think if a Risk Analysis was performed on the community it would require/recommend that a second entrance/exit would be required.

The third item would be a programmable flashing message board mounted at the gatehouse large enough for three lines of text. Message for all community functions, caution and speed limits, maintenance crew mowing or sweeping streets, contractors performing tree or construction work, and etc...Sample: Caution; Zombies on the ground or Caution;Zombies in the trees or Caution; Ole coots on Scoots.

If the goal is for 100% compliance, it is not obtainable while individuals are driving their own cars. As the compliance approaches 100% cost of enforcement/deterrents goes up exponentially and will not be affordable while on a limited budget. Off-Duty officer would not be as effective as a message board message; Officer on Patrol even if he is down at the corner having coffee.

board further retreats from transparency

Discontinues Long Standing Meeting Recording

Under the banner of continued and further secrecy in the operation of the association, the board has now decided to cease the recording of board meetings, which had been in place for years. Apparently having their actual deliberations recorded, including statements that members are not smart enough to understand their important work and should therefore be given no voice, has proven embarrassing. It should. Verbatim recordings have revealed to members a continuing theme of secrecy, over-reach, illegal expansion of authority, and usurpation of member rights, where deception and lack of transparency is the prime directive, closely following expanded control.

The stated reason for the abandonment of full board meeting recording, started back in 2005 after purchase and installation of thousands of dollars worth of audio recording equipment with member funds, setup in October and November of 2005 by Steve Posey, is that “the state does not require it”. No mention of the real reason; that certain board members are tired of hearing back their own words expressing thoughtless disregard for member interests and the effect on many owners of ever-increasing assessments. Perhaps The HOA should cease doing all of those things that the “the state does not require”. That would be an interesting list.

This latest move joins many others instituted by The KPOA Board to isolate itself from scrutiny by mere members, and continue to operate as if they have all of the answers, unlimited authority, and no obligation to hear (let alone consider) any alternative views. Increasingly it is becoming more and more difficult, by design, to observe the “actual sausage making”. No official meeting recording has joined the shifting of association business away from the KPOA email system to that of each member’s private email account, so that requests for member records are further hidden, and the creation of “the work session” (actually a board meeting by statutory definition) rather than conducting association business during scheduled board meetings. Members, are, of course, entitled to record board or committee meetings themselves at any time, with their own equipment, as was a past practice. Volunteers? Equipment is available.

Do You Have Questions For The Board Candidates?

KPNV will be inviting director candidates to respond to questions submitted by their peers and neighbors. We would like anyone who has a question for the candidates to submit their questions. We hope to publish the candidates’ answers in the June issue.

Please submit you candidate questions, by May 9th to: KPNV, P.O. Box 816, Port Hadlock, WA 98339 or email to: contact@TTPnewsletter.com.

rhubarb: first fruits of spring

Did You Know? Rhubarb, a relative of buckwheat, grows wild in China and Tibet, where it's been used to make medicines for centuries. It first appeared in North America in the late 1700s, introduced by a Maine gardener who obtained seed or rootstock from Europe. Within a mere 25 years, it was so popular with customers that it had become a regular offering at produce markets.

Growing Rhubarb: Rhubarb needs sun to partial shade, with fertile, well-drained soil that's slightly acidic and contains lots of organic matter. They emerge when spring temperatures reach 45°. Add a layer of mulch or well-rotted manure in spring. Divide every fourth spring or as needed.

Harvesting Rhubarb: For best results, snap off stems at ground level or twist gently at the base as you would with celery. Trim the leaves off immediately, since they're poisonous and shouldn't be eaten.

Storing Rhubarb: Fresh stalks or chopped pieces can be stored in the refrigerator for up to 3 weeks in sealed plastic bags. When you're ready to use refrigerated stalks, stand them in a container of cold water first to refresh them. Trim off the ends before chopping. Some cooks remove the stringy fibers, while other let the cooking do the softening. Rhubarb freezes well. Remove the leaves and wash the stalks. Cut the stalks into 1-inch pieces, put them in a

Theater Inspired By A Magical Place

A grand adventure awaits you as you stroll down a forested 1/4 mile trail to a unique and breathtaking theater with seating carved out of the side of a natural amphitheater located on a 360 acre rhododendron preserve owned by the Mountaineers located approximately 7 miles west of downtown Bremerton on the Seabeck Highway.

Natural amphitheater on 360 acre rhododendron preserve

William C. Darling designed the theater in 1926, spending many hours in this natural amphitheater determining how best to use the space so that sunlight streaming through the branches of the trees would form natural spotlights, and the beauty of nature would remain as undisturbed as possible. The theater roof is the sky, the walls are the forest, the wings are cedar bark covered with living moss, and the foundation is the earth.

The Mountaineers Players were formed in 1923. The Players present two productions each year (spring and summer). Cast and production members come from both sides of Puget Sound.

You can come early and picnic under the giant old-growth firs before the show- food is available for purchase as well.

Here is the season line-up:

Fiddler on the Roof will be playing May 27, 28, June 2, 3, 9, 10, 16, 17 - 2:00 pm.

Footloose will be playing July 28, 29, August 4, 5, 11, 12, 18, 19 - 2:00 pm.

Take Care of your Toaster

Today started out normal enough; cats & dog out & back in, coffee and a bit of prayer time to kick start the day.

Then the rush of thoughts began; too many good ideas for this article...where do I begin to write?

As I sat there, I gazed over at my toaster; now there's a good topic. Yes, I said 'my toaster'. I was proud of myself once more, for finally getting around to fixing my toaster. For 5 months I had 2 toasters sitting side by side; 'my' toaster's push down knob had gotten quite hard to push down and I didn't want to break it so I gladly accepted a free 'new' one offered from a family member last year. Last weekend I finally got around to taking 'my' toaster apart to see what was wrong. A little lube on the metal 'push down thingy', 20 minutes to get the silly thing back together right, and BAM; my toaster is good. Back in the cupboard goes the 'new' one. So what's the big deal with the toaster and why a great article idea? I got my toaster from a friend in 1980. She knew I needed one and she found it at a garage sale for 3 or 5 bucks. On the bottom it says the warranty ends in 1968; it is a 1965 toaster! Yep 47 years old and I raised 2 boys with that toaster.

So today, as I gazed in appreciation at my toaster I wondered why it lasted so long. 3 thoughts quickly came to mind; 1) it was made to last, 2) it had moderate but not excessive usage, and 3) I took care of it right. I didn't put anything in it that it wasn't designed to take; just bread or English muffin. And I cleaned out the crumbs on a regular basis.

People, our bodies were made to last. I've said it several times before and I grin in amazement when I think about how our bodies are designed and wonderfully made. Stop reading for just a moment...wiggle your fingers, bend your knees; twist at the waist; lift your shoulders up and down; take a big breath & let it out; put your hand to your heart and feel the beat...isn't that awesome? I know, some of you are wondering, 'just what was in that coffee she drank this morning'? But I humor myself to think that many of you also can relate that we are pretty well designed and that we also often take that for granted. We live in a fast paced, on demand, want-it-now, society and unlike my 47 year old toaster, many things are just not made to last anymore. I do think we can each do a little bit to take better care of ourselves and the world we live in. Years ago I worked in a service department for (mainly) appliances. I remember when I would go visit the electronic technicians and they would show me how microwave ovens, TV's and other appliances 'died' of cigarette smoke inhalation or cooking grease accumulation. See smoke and excess grease is not only bad for us, even our appliances!

What I really wanted to share is some ways we can make a difference in our health and our environment. We hear about 'Going Green' so here are a few ways we can:

- Ban the bottled water. Liquids are one of the heaviest items to ship, and their plastic containers are filling landfills.
- Snack sustainably. This is good for your waist as well as your waste. Ditch the processed snack foods and choose whole, real foods instead.
- Be an efficient shopper. Minimize shopping trips to different stores if possible, reuse bags, and shop bulk bins (you don't have to by bulk amounts!)
- Become a 'locavore'. Eat locally (or regionally) and seasonally to the extent that you can.
- Compost your food waste. Food scraps are about 12% of a family's household waste and emit powerful warming gases in landfill. Regenerate them into healthy soil instead.

- Cook in more, take out less. Dining out significantly increases a food's carbon footprint, especially if there is packaging.
- Limit highly packaged single-serving snacks, foods & beverages.
- Pack a PB&J for lunch. Make your own lunch and bring it with you. If it's peanut butter and jelly or almond butter with local jam on whole grain bread, it's fast, healthy and greener too.

So have a great month, think of me as you walk around, using your legs to walk and your eyes to see, your arms and fingers to pick things up, your mouth & tongue & taste buds to eat. And as you drink your coffee, wonder, 'What does Michelle put in hers?' And if you'd like to make Evergreen Fitness a part of a healthier you, then give me a call at 360-385-3036, or email me at: evergreenfitness@qwestoffice.net. I hope to see you...we're JUST around the corner.

Cooks Night Out

Main St. Ale House

Originally from San Luis Obispo, CA Darren worked his way through school as a bartender at the famed Café Roma of his home town. After earning a bachelor degree in Landscape Architecture and City and Regional Planning he became a development planner and a consultant for California cities. This led to the pursuit of a master degree in business administration. In the wake of our present economic tidings Darren reverted back to that which he knew to be a staple, bartending. After moving to the Kingston area Darren has worked at Silver City Restaurant and Brewery and the Suquamish Clearwater Casino until the purchase of The Main Street Ale House in January of 2011. Kim comes from the small town of Reedley, CA. She too worked through college in the restaurant business and eventually acquired a degree in Mathematics. After moving to Kingston Kim immediately began working at The Main Street Ale House and never looked back.

When we visited, there were ten of us for lunch and each order a variety of items. Everyone agreed the food was excellent and we would come back again! In the bar, there is live Trivia on Tues. night, live music Wed. and Thur. evenings, karaoke on Fri. and Sat. nights and open mic on Sunday. Happy hour is from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. During the summer season, the deck in the rear of the restaurant is a pleasant place for outdoor dining. coffee concerts are back!

Gwendolyn Moore's popular Coffee Concerts have returned after her adventures on the upper Amazon in Peru (but that's another story). Each concert is performed on Mondays and repeated on Tuesdays, from 9:45 a.m. until noon. The music is greatly enhanced by Gwen's commentary. Barbara Hincliff often joins Gwen for twohand piano music.

Gwendolyn Moore, pianist

May concerts will include the following music:
Monday and Tuesday, May 7 and 8, Schumann's

Fantasy Pieces and Copland's Concerto No. 1; on Monday and Tuesday, May 14 and 15, Schubert, Debussy and Chopin will be offered; on Monday and Tuesday, May 21 and 22, Beethoven and Bach will be featured and on Monday and Tuesday, May 28 and 29, you will hear some Schubert and Beethoven.

The website should be up and running soon for more complete details, or call Gwendolyn at 385-3626 to get on the e-mail list.

Admission to the concerts is $10, or $45 for a five-concert ticket book. Proceeds fund musical scholarships for local students. The concerts are held at 523 Blue Ridge Road in the Discovery Bay area. You may call the above number to get directions to the venue.
